On Friday, November 11th representatives from Youth Link Southern Indiana, City of Jeffersonville, and One Southern Indiana (1si) will gather at 1740 Williamsburg Drive, Suite G, Jeffersonville, Ind., for a ribbon cutting to celebrate their 20-year anniversary and new location. Youth Link Southern Indiana will hold an open house 3:00-5:00pm with a ribbon cutting at 3:30pm.

Youth Link Southern Indiana is a youth-serving organization that provides academic support, mental health services, and basic needs resources. Youth Link Southern Indiana partners with all four school districts in Clark County and New Albany High School in Floyd County, providing support to 19 schools and 4,500 students through their vital programming. The organization's focus is Linking Youth to Pathways of Success by removing barriers for students. Youth Link Southern Indiana was formerly known as Community in Schools in Clark County.

Youth Link provides a variety of programming through their school day services. Resource Coordinators provide 1-on-1 and small group tutoring, distribute Bare Necessities items, and oversee the 321 Read Program. The Bare Necessities program provides coats, eyeglasses, shoes, hygiene products, and other basic needs to students. The 321 Read program matches a community volunteer with a struggling reader for a 1-on-1 weekly session. Youth Link also partners with Centerstone Mental Health to provide licensed, clinical therapists to students in need at no cost.

Youth Link Southern Indiana also provides programming outside of the school day. The 21st Century Community Learning Center sites offer after school academic and behavioral interventions for referred students grades 1-12. In addition to homework assistance and tutoring, students participate in a variety of enrichment activities. The Extended Day Learning Program (EDL) provides engaging and enriching before and after school care for elementary students in a nurturing environment.
